MUSIC CLUB GIVES ANNUAL BANQUET, ALSO RECITAL

Ability of American Woman Theme of Gathering for Local Organization

By CORINNE E. ORFF

Woman's part in the cultivation of music in America and in the community, her achievements as an artist and composer and qualifications for such, was the theme of the talks given last night at the annual banquet of the Glendale Music club, of which Mrs. Mattison B. Jones is president, held at the First Methodist church, and following which the ability of an American woman pianist was most beautifully demonstrated in the recital given in the auditorium of the church by Olga Steeb.

Promptly at 6:30 o'clock the banquet was served to a party of 400 members and guests of the Glendale Music club, and proved to be a very brilliant affair and most appropriate for the closing of a successful year for the club. The long tables in the banquet hall had been artistically decorated with bouquets of delphinium, coreopsis, snapdragons and gladioli. Preceding the banquet Rev. C. M. Crist of the First Methodist church said grace.

A telegram was read by Mrs. Jones from Mayor Spencer Robinson of Glendale, who is in San Francisco, extending congratulations to the music club members and for their splendid work in "laying the foundation along artistic and musical lines in Glendale."

Mrs. Jones introduced the new presidents of the auxiliaries of the club, Gertrude Heideman of the junior auxiliary, and Susie Smith of the Juvenile auxiliary. V. M. Hollister, president of the Chamber of Commerce, extended greetings from that organization and congratulated Mrs. Jones on the "wonderful organization that had been formed and its splendid work during the year" and also promised the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce for the work of the club in the future.

From Tuesday Club

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president elect of the Tuesday Afternoon club, gave greetings from that organization and expressed the wish that Mrs. Jones might not only entertain friends at her new home as president of the Glendale Music club, but as president of the State Federation of Music clubs.

Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, president of the Tuesday Afternoon

LEGION IN DRIVE ON MEMBERSHIPS

Total of 1000 Is Set by Post to Further Plans In Building Project

One thousand members—that is the goal set by the Glendale post of the American Legion at its meeting last night when further plans for their building program were considered, including a tentative subdivision scheme for the Glendale Sanitarium site on which the Legion is exercising an option.

If the great program, entailing the handling of more than a half million dollars in the next three years, is to succeed, the membership of practically every former service man in Glendale is necessary, it was pointed out.

As a result J. H. Wittmeyer of the Jewel Electric company was named general chairman of the membership committee which will work in co-operation with the building committee. His aides have been named as follows, the first named being chairmen of the various sub-committees:

Zoning—A. G. Wheelon, L. G. Fortier and T. R. Goodman.

ORATORICAL PRIZE TO REMAIN HERE PERMANENTLY

Paul Hutchinson Is Awarded First Honors In Contest Of South's Schools

Paul Hutchinson, representing Glendale Union High school, won the annual Southern California interscholastic oratorical contest held last night in Los Angeles. Hutchinson not only won the gold medal for himself, but the result gives the silver trophy to Glendale and entitles the school to keep it permanently, as it is the third time that Glendale High has won the cup since 1917, when the trophy was first put up by the oratorical league.

The winner delivered his oration, "The Trend of Civilization," in a superb manner and easily carried away the honors. His natural and sincere manner of delivery was effective and pleasing and won the decision of the judges. Of the three delivery judges who were present at the contest, Hutchinson won two first places and a second honor.

Glendale High can well be proud of its winner this year and its oratorical record in the league. The silver cup was put up by the league in 1917 with the proviso that the school that won each year was entitled to keep the trophy until the following contest, but that the first school to win the honors three times could have possession of it permanently.

Some Past Winners

In the six years since 1917, Glendale has won three times, Polytechnic High once, Los Angeles High once, and Pasadena High once.

Considering the competition that Glendale has had to meet in these contests, as such large schools as San Diego, Long Beach, Pasadena, Santa Ana, Hollywood, and the other large city schools are in this league, this record is indeed one to be proud of.

The winning oration, "The Trend of Civilization," deals with "American problems and the evils of the present social system." It emphasizes the fact that "as other great empires and nations have fallen, so will America unless her ideals be those of service

At the present time the church membership is 1500, more than the entire population of Glendale fifteen years ago, representing the development of Glendale and also the results of his efforts in connection with the church work.

Two new members were initiated, Albert A. Gafford and Dr. Edmund T. Remmen, who pledged to do their part in pushing the total of the post over the thousand mark, the drive for which was planned.

HIGH SCHOOL ART DISPLAYS GAIN HIGH PRAISE

Students Get Compliments On Exhibit of Practical Side of Education

The practical side of school work was well illustrated in the exhibit which closed last night at Glendale Union High school.

Amazement that high school pupils should be able to combine the theoretical and practical to such an extent and produce so many useful articles has been expressed by all the visitors to the exhibit.

A skeleton bungalow built to scale and partly exposed so that the interior framework may be studied was completed this semester by the class in carpenter work under the direction of Walter Gorman. This will be used for demonstration purposes by the succeeding classes.

The display in the woodworking department, which is under Mr. Gorman, also, consisted of many substantial articles of furniture, including library tables, chairs, hat racks, cedar chests, chiffoniers, and many other things. A number of mahogany nut bowls and lamp standards are on display.

Auto, Machine Shops

The auto shop had on exhibition a number of parts cut sectionally so that the interior may be examined. Among them are various types of carburetors, a vacuum tank, two engine blocks and a radiator. Bert Rolf, head of this department, believes these objects will be very useful in classroom demonstrations.

The forge, which is under the direction of J. H. Clark, had on display a number of various kinds of forge tools such as tongs and chisels.

The machine shop exhibit, which was prepared under the supervision of Morgan N. Smith, head of this department, consisted of a number of accurately made machine parts, each of which was made for a definite purpose. Among them are parts for a ten-inch drill press, which is to be assembled before the term is over, and a completed eight-inch drill press, which has been found to be

RUNNING FOR CAR, A. HAFEMEISTER HIT BY AUTO

Badly Cut and Bruised by Crash, Victim Taken to Glendale Hospital

Eagerness to reach a city-bound Pacific Electric car at Lomita avenue at 7:45 this morning was the cause of Arthur Hafmeister of 1150 North Columbus avenue being taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Mr. Hafemeister is a barber employed in the shop of H. H. Mende, 826 West Third street, Los Angeles. He was offered a ride in an automobile driven by Otto M. Clinton of 416 Palm Drive. At the Lomita crossing, Mr. Clinton stopped in order that his passenger might board the limited which had been approaching close behind.

With his lunch box in his hand, Mr. Hafmeister darted across the street intent on reaching the car which had only paused a second or two and was about to start up again.

Witness Accident

"Look! Look!" exclaimed Dr. R. L. Young of 1007 North Brand boulevard whose automobile was coming east on Lomita avenue with two passengers, Charles J. Letts and his daughter, Miss Jean Letts, of 109 West Lomita avenue. They glanced up just in time to see the accident.

A roadster driven by J. C. Dennerlen of 1304 North Central avenue struck Mr. Hafemeister just as he had reached the center of the street. He was knocked down and the machine passed over him before coming to a stop. He was picked up unconscious in a cramped position bleeding profusely from a severe cut in the back of his head and from his mouth and nose.

Owing to the difficulty of placing him in the roadster, Dr. Young and others present lifted him into the rear seat of Mr. Clinton's Ford and he was taken to the hospital.

No Bones Are Broken

Dr. W. G. Westphal reported at 10:30 o'clock that X-rays revealed the fact that no bones had been broken. The most severe injury was the cut at the back of the head. There were many bruises.

The accident was also witnessed by Contractor E. K. Daniels of 207 West Lomita avenue, who was on his way to work.

Dr. C. E. Brain of 428 Salem street was a passenger on the rear platform of the Pacific Electric train and saw Mr. Hafemeister as he was struck. He noticed that Mr. Dennerlen's machine stopped in short order and is positive that it could not have been going very fast.

"It would cost $50,000 to bring these people to Glendale and it would not accomplish as much probably," said E. F. Sanders, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, this morning, who was out hustling cars.

"They are the representative business men of the world who are attending this convention. If we can bring 2,000 of them to Glendale they will go home and tell their friends about the fastest growing city in America.

"The more we can bring to Glendale Monday afternoon the more we will get to see this vicinity. Come to the Chamber of Commerce for banners and route cards not later than next Monday noon," he added.

More People Have Good Things

Does the world get better? Are people better off today than in days long gone by? We'll say the great majority is better off. More people nowadays can afford good things.

The early watches were wonderful, but only kings and princes could have them. Silks and fine linens have not been improved in ages. But while once for royalty only, they are now for our wives.

Some one who reads this can remember when common shoes had no "rights" and "lefts." Those still young can remember the old hand-me-down ill fitting men's clothing.

We all have seen carpenters making woodwork of poorly suited lumber right on the job.

Now, we all can have watches, silks, comfortable shoes, well fitting clothes and good woodwork and fixtures of fine design at prices we can afford to pay.

This all has been brought about by standardized production.

BOLSHEVISM NOW SHAKES MEXICO, REPORTS SAY

Affairs Go From Bad to Worse, Is Claim of the Washington Post

By U. S. Press Association.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Under the caption, "America's Attitude Toward Mexico," The Washington Post, the leading administration paper, and sometimes regarded as a semi-official mouthpiece for President Harding, says that "the state of affairs in Mexico goes from bad to worse." This assertion is fortified by more specific details. For instance, observes the Post: "The disguises adopted by the Obregon regime to cover bolshevist operations have been thrown off in many instances, and it is now evident that Mexico is in the hands of individuals who are as rapacious and as communistic as the Russian Reds. Their method of operation is the same in some cases. Russian agents have taught Mexican officials many tricks of communism. The element of honest communism, which makes zealots of some Russians, does not appear in Mexican bolshevism. In Mexico communism is not so much a political belief as it is a method of confiscation of property for the benefit of the confiscators.

"The United States government has received abundant reports of the spread of bolshevism throughout Mexico under the Obregon regime. Mexicans of good standing have made confidential reports showing the ruthless methods of depriving owners of their properties, which are then divided among the officials and their friends. Haciendas, ranches, mines, forest and grazing ranges, factories, oil properties, and other valuable properties are in process of confiscation. The owners may be Americans, Mexicans, or Europeans, but the process of spoliation is the same. There is sometimes an appearance of legal procedure under the so-called agrarian law, and sometimes a concocted claim of disputed title, and sometimes a fraudulent strike or claim for laborers' wages, but in all cases the result is the confiscation of the property and its division among the parties who hold official position. The officials installed for the protection of the people are the despoilers. There is no recourse, as an appeal to other officials brings nothing but further spoliation if there is any property left.

"The conditions in which Mexicans fine themselves are so intolerable that uprisings against Obregon's rule are reported in many parts of the country. These movements are spontaneous and disconnected. Thus far the Obregon organization has been able to suppress these revolts, but as they grow more numerous and formidable the defections from Obregon's army threaten to weaken his military power to the point where he may be overthrown."

Secretary Hughes' Views

In a recent speech by Secretary of State Hughes he made use of the following language, which has been interpreted in Washington to apply not only to Russia, but to Mexico as well. Mr. Hughes said:

"Another fundamental question at this time is the preservation of the essential basis of international intercourse through the demand for the recognition of valid titles acquired in accordance with existing law and for the maintenance of the sanctity of contracts and of adequate means of enforcing them. Intercourse from the standpoint of business consists in the making of contracts and the acquisition of property rights. But if they seek international intercourse, they must perform international obligations. When they have invited intercourse with other nations, have established their laws under which contracts have been made and property rights validly acquired, they put themselves outside the pale of international intercourse if they enter upon a policy of confiscation." Mr. Hughes added that the state was not entitled to a place in the family of nations if it destroy the foundation of honorable intercourse by resort to "confiscation and repudiation," and fails to maintain an adequate system of government through which valid rights and valid agreements are recognized and enforced.

For St. Lawrence Pact

The State Department announces that it had communicated to the Canadian government its willingness to begin negotiations in connection with the St. Lawrence canal project to permit ocean-going vessels to reach the Great Lakes. No answer has yet been received from the Canadian government. As to the substance of the American note, the state department's announcement said:

"The note to the British Ambassador referred to the fact that on January 21, 1920, the governments of the United States and Canada referred to the international joint commission for investigation and report under terms of Article IX of the treaty of January 11, 1909, relating to boundary waters, questions with respect to the importance of the St. Lawrence river between Lake Ontario and Montreal, both for navigation and the development of water power."

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Whither Are We Going? Maybe to Antelope Valley Longest Way, Shortest Cut Hollywood Too Peaceful

By Gil A. Cowan

"WHITHER are we going?" Such was the caption of a cartoon showing the dear public riding serenely in a row boat and riding into the rapids on the precipice of a fall.

According to Secretary Davis of the labor department the national coal strike will result in an "acute situation" about June 15, when reserve stocks will be reduced to 30,000,000 tons, thereby causing a serious fuel shortage.

It takes 60,000,000 tons to keep wheels moving and with neither side of the industry willing to arbitrate the settlement of this national problem before fall will provide one of the most serious subjects for the government to deal with.

"Whither are we going?" Also might be asked of tin pan alley musicians and jazz dancers. How much crazier can music be written and the listening public remain sensible? How many more muscles can a dancer exercise in doing the latest of fantastic steps?

Sure, and there is a limit to all things. The motion picture industry has undergone a remarkable change for the better recently. The 1922 model of films will be altogether different than those made soon after the world war ended when only rapaciousness and salaciousness would thrill the public mind.

There is one thing, however, that seemingly has not reached a limit. Divorces are gaining on Dan Cupid in Los Angeles county. One celebrity got her decree in eight minutes. Her husband interfered with her professional career. Wonder what she thought he would do? And she complained he was jealous. If he hadn't been he would have been unhuman and likely killed her, or hung her up by her feet and thrown her in the corner like a kiddie does a doll.

"Whither are we going?" That will be the question hundreds of families will ask tomorrow prior to setting out on a motor jaunt for the afternoon. Here's a trip you can make between church service and picnic along the way.

The Antelope valley boasts of Palmdale and Lancaster as two sizable towns in the northern portion of Los Angeles county. Incidentally, they are in the sixty-first assembly district in which Glendale is located and they are sixty some odd miles over the mountains.

You drive out the San Fernando boulevard to Saugus and the Auto club signs will direct you along the right road through Mint canyon. A more peaceful place you would not wish to see. It is almost virgin country with a homestead here and there.

With the recent rains this rolling country will be quite beautiful, indeed, while a little later in the season it will be as parched as the desert. The grades are easy and coasting is excellent, and while there are quite a few curves on the Mint canyon route they can be negotiated by a novice easily as compared with the tortuous twisting of the Ridge route.

If you want six hours of enjoyment, make Lancaster your destination and see some mighty fine farming country on the way.

"There is an old saying that the longest way around may be the shortest cut, or something to that effect," says the Southwest Builder and Contractor," and this seemingly applies to the proposed California state highway connecting El Centro, Imperial county and Yuma, Ariz. A chain of sand hills fifty miles long and seven miles across form a barrier to the construction of such a road. The hills are constantly moving and during the periodical high winds at certain seasons of the year would bury past economical reclamation any permanent type of surfaced highway. A plank road built in sections, which can be moved or abandoned to accommodate the drift of the sand, temporarily bridges these hills.

"Recently Division Engineer W. W. Patch of the California highway commission, with the co-operation of the Mexican officials of Lower California, made a reconaissance survey south of the international boundary line to determine possibilities for routing the San Bernardino-Yuma lateral south of the international boundary. It was found that the sand hills end a short distance south of the line, and that their drift is all north, so that a line located there would be safe at all times."

Of course, that offers a solution if it can be worked out.

From Paris comes word that Gloria Swanson, film star, is in Europe "to escape Hollywood."

Just why she should want to escape, no one locally might be able to determine off hand.

Visited Hollywood myself the other day and it is quieter than Glendale. Maybe a few more automobiles, several motion picture plants, etc., but if Gloria actually meant what she is quoted as having said, the escape was from the quietude and peace that a vivacious person could not long survive.

Hollywood was, is and will be about as slow a hillside as Southern California might boast. Walking the dog, cantering through the hills or attending a beach party are about the most "peppy" things any minister's son could mix into if he tried to be real devilish.

The Home The Town Built

—There was a time when a man went out into the virgin forest, felled trees, hewed logs and actually built his own home, with no other help than that of his brave wife. But not so today.

—Now, when you build your home, the entire town has a hand in it—the architect, realty man, lawyer, banker, laborer, stone mason and brick mason, carpenter, lumber dealer, roofer, glazier, plumber, gas and electric fitter, lather, plasterer, painter and insurance man each has a part in it, to say nothing of the dealers in all the home comforts which go to furnish it.

—You will need guidance in securing the aid of these town workers and dealers—and that is where we come in. We have an ideally arranged Photographic Service which will save you both time and money. It will also help you to arrange the most ideal dwelling possible for the money you wish to invest. Let us assist you.

"THE HOME THE TOWN BUILT"

By J. C. Dionne

This is the home the town built.
This is the home so clean and neat
That adds so much to the looks of the street;
That makes the strangers wish that they
Could take it along when they go away.
And the neighbors are glad that everyone had
A hand in the home the town built.

This is the youth with pep and vim;
Clean, honest labor looks good to him;
He is the one who owns the place
As you can see by his satisfied face;
The property stands in his own name—
To "own a home" is plenty of fame—
And he takes part in the village biz,
To hold up the value of what is his,
For this is the home the town built.

This is the maid so filled with love,
Who makes the home like the Heaven above;
Her "work" is "play" the whole day long,
She fills the house with happy song,
For the house is new and clean, you see,
And just as convenient as it can be—
For this is the home the town built.

But what is this army that stands outside
And watches the house with looks of pride?
Why, they are the ones who helped to build
This HOME! No wonder with joy they're filled!
They, too, deserve their "place in the sun,"
For it is a wonderful work they have done—
Constructing the home the town built.

First, the ARCHITECT drew the plan;
Then the lot was got from a REAL ESTATE MAN;
The LAWYER found that the title was right;
And the BANKER showed the money in sight.
The LABORER dug the cellar so deep;
And the MASON made the foundation to keep,
The base for the BRICKMASON'S solid wall
And the chimney above, so straight and tall.
The CARPENTER bought from the LUMBER YARD
All manner of wood, both soft and hard,
To make the partitions, the shelves and the doors,
The shady porch and the wide, smooth floors.
The ROOFER shingled (perhaps he tinned)
And the GLAZIER guarded 'gainst too much wind.
The PLUMBER saw that the water was right;
The GAS and ELECTRIC men handled the light;
The LATHER and PLASTERER covered the wall
And the PAINTER finished the last of all;
And then—deny it if you can,
They call in the INSURANCE MAN.

But these are just the ones who build;
The house is empty and must be filled;
So the rest of the town then takes a part
To prove that each has a will and a heart
To make that house a HOME indeed—
And here is the rest of this jingly screed.

The FURNITURE man gives a table and bed,
A chair and a carpet on which to tread.
The DRYGOODS man provides the sheets
And towels and napkins for the eats.
The CROCKERY man sets up a cup
And a plate and dish from which to sup.
The CUTLERY man then gives the tools,
(Knife, fork and spoon) by fashion's rules.
The HARDWARE dealer would think it strange
If he could not provide the range
Together with many a pot and pan
That a woman needs to feed a man.

These are the men, if the house is small,
Who help to build, but they are not all.
If the maiden wants a PIANO to play,
An ALARM CLOCK to waken her early each day,
A VACUUM CLEANER, a PICTURE FRAME,
A FRONT DOOR PLATE, to hold her name,
Then others step into rank and file
To make her house a HOME WORTH WHILE;
For this is the home the TOWN built.

The GROCER, the BAKER, the seller of MEAT,
The MERCHANTS who handle all good things to eat;
The ICE and the MILK and the EGGS and the FOOD,
The COAL, and the CLOTHES and the GAS and the WOOD;
The STOREKEEPERS handling all things she can use;
The EDITOR telling the latest news.
The PREACHER, the LAWYER, the DOCTOR, the JUDGE,
The MOWER OF LAWNS and the MAKERS OF FUDGE.

There's hardly a soul in the town, you will find,
Who hasn't some sort of connection to bind
His personal profit and happiness through
His part in constructing a "HOME for just two."
And every HOME in the town is the same!
It's a wonderful work and a beautiful game!
The TOWN is the gainer as well as the pair,
For their comfort and ease make them permanent there.
And every new dwelling that opens its door
For a loving pair and their worldly store
Makes the town worth living in that much more—

FOR THIS IS THE HOME
THE TOWN BUILT!

This beautiful home with its many unique details will at first create thoughts of boldness—the more you study it, however, the more fascinated you become with its distinctiveness, attractiveness and pleasing lines, and so firmly have these new creations entwined themselves around the hearts of the home builders and lovers of individuality, that they have literally transformed our western architecture, and today we find the building public unanimous in their opinion of them.

On these pages we are endeavoring to acquaint and advise you of timely and practical ideas and you are to feel at liberty to advise with the Home Building Editor regarding plans and building information.

Camp Potter Gains Fine Water Supply

P. V. Potter of Glendale, who owns and manages Camp Potter at Big Bear lake, is fortunate in securing a wonderful water supply for his camp in the San Bernardino mountains. This well has been drilled to a depth of 100 feet at which point the water was reached. The bore was filled with a six-inch casing. Mr. Potter does not find it necessary to put a pump on the well as the water flows out of the casing in a good-sized stream and there is every indication that the well will continue to flow at the present rate.

The fact that the water comes from a depth of 100 feet and that no other strata of water were encountered in drilling to this depth, positively insures plenty of the purest, coldest water at all times. There can never be any surface water in this well to contaminate the supply.

Mr. Potter states that his well is attracting the attention of many visitors to Bear Valley and will undoubtedly prove a very attractive feature of his camp, for one of the prime essentials of a resort is good water. Mr. Potter says this well is worth $1000 or more to his popular camp. He contemplates building a rustic canopy over the well to add attractiveness to the novelty of flowing water.

To go to Canossa means to eat humble pie. Canossa is a town in Italy where Kaiser Henrich IV went to humble himself before Pope VII (Hildebrand) in 1076.

GUARD YOUR FIRE WHILE VISITOR IN U. S. FORESTS

Message to Motorists Sent by Government; Warning Should Be Followed

The biggest forest fire started from a spark.

The United States national forests are the motorists' play grounds.

Motorists should protect them. Cigarette stumps or glowing matches thrown carelessly into the brush have turned thousands of acres in southern California's national playgrounds into blackened desolate wastes.

This is the message sent to California motorists by the Los Angeles offices of the United States forestry service in the Federal building. With the plea that automobile vacationists help prevent fires the United States Bureau of Fire Service has issued a bulletin of five rules for the prevention of fires in the mountains.

Read These Carefully

1. MATCHES—Be sure your match is out before you throw it away. Matches whose heads glow after the flame is out are dangerous.

2. TOBACCO — Throw pipe ashes and cigar or cigarette stumps in the dust of the road and stamp or pinch out the fire before leaving them. Don't throw them into brush, leaves or needles.

3. MAKING CAMP—Build a small camp fire. Build it in the open, not against a tree or log. Scrape away the trash from all around it.

4. LEAVING CAMP — Never leave a camp fire, even for a short time, without quenching it with water or earth.

5. FIGHTING FIRES—If you find a fire, try to put it out. If you can get word of it to the nearest United States forest ranger or state fire warden at once. Keep in touch with the rangers.

Warnings Are Issued

Automobile camping parties are warned that bonfires are no longer permitted. This does not refer to small camp fires for the purpose of cooking or warmth. Large fires for the purpose of celebration, however, are forbidden.

All campers must obtain from the forest rangers, camp fire permits before building a fire for any purpose whatsover on national forest land.

No charge is made for issuing permits and rangers are stationed at frequent intervals throughout the mountains, making it little trouble for automobile campers to comply with this regulation.

Officials of the forestry service also call the attention of automobile parties to the fact that streams of water which are the source of water supply for the cities of southern California must not be polluted.

Race Drivers Provide Lots of Thrills for Spectators At Indianapolis Meet

PLENTY OF SPEED IS PROVIDED BY THEM

Speed fans and racing maniacs are now back in their "home towns" again regaling their "gangs" with thrilling tales of the Indianapolis "speed classic" on Decoration day.

Los Angeles had the honor of being represented by the winners of both first and second places.

Jimmy Murphy clipped sixteen miles from the best previous record and went around the 500-mile course in an average speed of 94.48 miles per hour. The best former record was made in 1915 by Ralph DePalma who made 89.84 miles per hour. Murphy shot into the lead at the start of the race and never relinquished it during five hours of thrilling driving. He made only three stops during the entire race. After he had gone, 185 miles, he pulled up at the pit and had all of his tires changed. When his speedometer registered 368 miles he halted for more gas. On this occasion his right front tire was changed and his fuel tank was filled in precisely twenty-eight seconds.

Harry Hartz, also of Los Angeles, was known on the track as "the boy wonder." He jumped into second place sixty miles after the start and held this pace during the race, although he tried hard to overtake the winner. He drove at an average speed of 93.54 miles an hour.

Peter DePaole, nephew of Ralph DePalma, was in the third smash-up of the day. His car hit the outside retaining wall, skidded more than one hundred feet and landed at the bottom of the track. By a miracle neither the driver nor his mechanic were injured. However, the car was too badly damaged to proceed.

Jules Ellingboe drove a Dusen and maintained an average speed of 90.56 miles an hour just five-tenths of a mile behind Ralph De Palma. Roscoe Sarles and Ralph Mulford were also in the contest.

Tips of Benefit to Drivers Everywhere

Extra tires not in use on the car should be kept in a dry, cold and dark place.

When buying a used automobile first inspect the dealer before looking over the car.

Caring for a car is more than a mere matter of keeping it filled with gas, oil and water.

Some motorists carry a brick as part of the car's equipment, as an emergency block when stalled on a hill.

Add a small box of wire nails of different sizes in the tool box. They are useful to replace lost cotter pins, and the like.

Never dash madly into mud holes, water-bars, and the like, and expect to have anything left of the car at the end of the year.

Do not fail to observe the caution signs placed on the roads by automobile clubs and associations—there is a reason for them being there.

Backing the car a little and then suddenly plunging forward in low gear causes the most severe strain that can be forced on a rear axle or driving gear.

Poor Insulation

Short circuits are caused by poor insulation, which allows the wires to come in contact with metal parts of the car.

TOPANGO CANYON CALL IS HEARD AND ANSWERED

Many Charms to Be Found on Trip; Hint of Ocean Well Concealed

Combining the double lure of the mountains and the sea, the Topango Canyon road has a charm of its own that no other road in Southern California can exactly duplicate. Nowhere else can the motorist find a trip that merges the two chief charms of Southern California's outdoors so delightfully.

Fifteen years ago a motor trip through Topango Canyon was a stunt for the hardiest of drivers. A narrow, dusty track, with grades that ran up to 30 per cent, made the Topango road anything but a pleasure to drive over. Yet people did drive over it, in increasing numbers year by year, and so urgent was the demand for its improvement that by 1915 it was rerouted and paved from end to end, providing not only a delightful drive, but serving a very useful purpose in connecting the upper end of the San Fernando valley with the beach road to Santa Monica.

No Hint of Sea

As you come down the Topango grade, except for the salt tang that you get now and again in the air, it seems as though you might be coming down a canyon road far back in the Sierra Madres. The sycamores by the stream, the clean smell of the chamisal, sumac and sage give no hint of the closeness of the sea. The abruptness of the change when you round the last turn and are confronted with the vastness of the Pacific gives a dramatic touch to Topango that few Southern California roads can equal.

As for the road along the shore it is different, too. So much of the California coast is low, rolling hills, yellow and brown half the year, green and gold the other half. The curving coast of the Malibu is different. It changes little with the seasons. The great crescent of hills that sweep away to the northwest to rugged Point Dume, is half veiled in the blue sea haze day in day and out.

"Bay of Smokes"

Sometimes spring gives a hint of green to the hills, sometimes an unwonted turn in the tides of the air when the land wind blows reveals the stark contour of cliff and canyon, but those things are the exception. The great bay of Santa Monica was named the "Bay of Smokes" by the first sea travelers that came that way, and still the hills are hazy and smoky.

Probably there is no road whose completion motorists wait for with such eagerness as the road that will open to Oxnard, for there is no lovelier bit of coast this side of Carmel Bay, and the opening of the coast highway will make it accessible from Glendale with utmost ease.

Roads to Yosemite Are Good, Reported

With the roads into Yosemite valley in good condition for travel now, it is expected the rush will be on immediately now that the economy run has blazed the trail.

"The open road comes a few days later than last year, because of the unusual fall of snow in the Sierras, but, while this snow delayed briefly the opening of the season, it brought with it compensation for such delay, in the magnificence of the full waterfalls and the brimming river," says Bob Williams, assistant manager of Camp Curry. "The vegetation and flowers, too, will be at their best all through the summer because of the excess water.

"An interesting point is that this unusually wet season will have gone on record for the enlightenment of future generations hundreds of years hence. The great Sequoias are busy now with their evidence, and scientists in years to come will know by the unusually wide ring growth in thess giant trees that the snow and fainfall of 1922 have been acsurately reported.

"Who knows but in our tramps along the trails in the peaks and crests above the valley this summer that we may not find ample opportunity for coasting and snowballing, hidden away in the high recesses of the lofty peaks and deep gorges where the sun seldom enters?

"Camp Curry has been like a busy hive of bees adjusting their quarters to accommodate an unusual swarm and soon the visitors will come pouring in. Some of them are on their way now, and it will be but a short time until the little winding trails with a fairyland at the end of each one—and enchantment all along the way, will be dotted with eager hikers. The great boulders piled up at the foot of Yosemite falls will be occupied by merry picnickers enjoying their lunch, sitting in orchestra seats and hearing the great oratoria of nature's plunging waters.

"Up the long and beautiful climb to Nevada falls, braving the mist bath, and the slippery rocks, in khaki and with alpenstock in hand, hundreds of people will soon pass. Youth and age, and even children will be seen, for the way has been made safe and the air so exhilarating it is but a delightful pastime."

The largest snipe in the world are found in Brazil.

W. F. TOWER TELLS ABOUT HIS TRIP TO YOSEMITE

Glendale Party on Visit to State Capital Before Entering Valley

W. F. Tower of 328 N. Maryland avenue, who left Glendale recently in an automobile with his family for a vacation trip, writes from Camp EZ Rest, Yosemite valley, stating that they are having a delightful time in that beautiful place. The trip north was made by way of the Ridge route, with its 1128 turns in twenty-eight miles, Bakersfield, Fresno, Modesto. They crossed the ferry to the old town Benecia, once the state capital, and then to St. Helena. At that place they were joined by their son, Robert, and then to Sacramento.

Mr. Tower, in describing the '49ers' celebration at Sacramento, says:

"It was an amusing affair. Most of the men had whiskers and some of them long beards, as in the old days. The women wore long dresses with ruffles, hoops and poke bonnets of all colors. We never saw such lettuce as we bought there, heads as large as cabbages, and three for a dime.

"We continued on by way of Stockton and took the road by Merced for Yosemite, coming in by the big redwoods at Mariposa grove. We saw the grizzly giant 204 feet tall and 93 feet around. We reached the valley in good shape and on time. Our Essex climbed the hard grades and forded all the streams and never balked once.

Valley Duly Impresses

"We are more than pleased with our first visit to Yosemite. Although we visited Niagara Falls twice and were duly impressed with its grandeur, Yosemite surpasses it. We were told that the waterfalls, streams and lakes are at their best by reason of the unusually heavy fall of snow this season. It is an ideal spot for one who loves nature and a quiet spell. We have our own tent and cook under the large pine trees. The robins are very tame and are frequent visitors, also deer come around and gaze at us. The water is splendid, always cool and soft.

"We have for neighbors Mr. and Mrs. George Jeffries and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Spickerman, all of Glendale. Mr. Spickerman has taken out a license to fish and I have no doubt the delightful aroma of friend fish will soon mingle with the ever-present pine odor. This is an ideal place for a family vacation, healthful, always interesting, a variety of hikes, shady drives and walks, babbling brooks, cascades, rapids and falls. Besides, it is inexpensive. We figure that $3 per day will cover our expenses for four. We anticipate when our time is up the pleasure of home-coming to Glendale, "active and attractive."

Campaign to Foil Thieves Under Way

Rural districts are suffering from the attacks of the auto thief this summer throughout southern California, and hundreds of cars are being stolen at points outside of the cities.

Officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California have secured reports from county officials giving actual accounts of their activities, and working upon the information so supplied a campaign to thwart the theft gangs' work is to be waged at once.

Many motorists wrote to the theft bureau of the organization asking if the mere removal of the switch key from the car is sufficient to prevent the theft of the machine. Auto drivers want to know if that constitutes "locking the car."

No—it does not. This is the reply universally given by the expert thief catchers of the club. Other precautions are necessary to preserve the car safely now, since this part of the state has become the mecca for some of the most expert automobile stealiing gangs in America.

Any device which will cause the thief to take more than three minutes in unlocking or filing or breaking is identified as a lock, but otherwise the car is not safe in any district, whether in thickly or thinly populated centers.

No special device is recommended, but any safe lock is urged. Special owner's identification marks are also urged upon our owners.

"Put a mark on your car in a secret place so even if the thieves tear the body to pieces and rebuild it, you can know that the car is yours," say club detectives. These secret marks should be so placed that they can be found only by the owner.

6000 Motor Vehicles

A survey made by the New York State Bureau of Municipal Information shows that in 1921 over 6000 motor vehicles were owned and operated by 60 out of the 100 largest cities in the United States. Fire apparatus and privately owned cars of which the city pays operating expenses are excluded from the above total.

Car for Every Mile

Canada has one automobile for every mile of improved road. Twenty years ago there were fewer than 300 cars owned in the Dominion, or one car for each 1360 miles of road.

Auto Owners Visiting In Southland This Summer to Receive Club's 'Courtesy Tag'

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
GUEST

THESE WILL WELCOME SOUTHLAND VISITORS

This pretty girl and the guest tag being put out by the Automobile Club of Southern California will greet auto drivers arriving in the Southland during the summer. Who wouldn't enjoy having this charming young woman place a "courtesy tag" on his automobile?

Every auto owner who visits Southern California this summer is going to be given a radiator "courtesy tag."

These labels, of enamelled metal, and made in Los Angeles, will be distributed through the twenty-four branch offices and the Glendale headquarters of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Placed in a prominent position on the car's radiator, the label will read "Southern California GUEST."

Wherever these signs are observed by civic or county authorities special favors will be shown the auto owner carrying the tag. These courtesies have been arranged for by officials of the auto club for all visitors who display the radiator emblems.

Each of the thirteen southern counties has entered into the spirit of welcome for the thousands of eastern and northern motorists who are going to pour into this part of the state during June, July and August.

Ten thousand tags have been ordered and five thousand are now ready for distribution by the auto club. Local car owners who have friends out of the state here are asked to escort these friends to a point where they can obtain the guest tag.

Every car bearing a "foreign" license should be so labeled this summer. The tags will be distributed free of charge and will serve as a handsome souvenir for the easterner when he returns to his native city.

It will be the stamp of Southern California's approval!

Pointed Paragraphs For Every Motorist

Watch the driver ahead for his signals.

Never make habit of slipping the clutch.

A rusty pin will cause a tire to deteriorate very quickly.

When wooden wheels develop squeaks, soak them in oil or water.

Friction causes at least 25 per cent loss in the power of a motor.

Steering wheels and knuckles should be inspected at least once a week.

Never turn off the ignition on a hill, which permits the car to drag the engine.

Automobiles in this country are replaced with new ones on an average of every five years.

Inclose electric wires at the points where they are held to the iron frame with rubber tubing.

When drilling hard steel, use turpentine instead of oil, as this will enable rapid drilling of the metal.

INTERESTING TRIP ASSURED TO BIG ROCK CREEK

Spring Time Journey to District Will Prove of Great Benefit to Autoist

Water and gasoline may not mix very well, but, nevertheless, a combination of them will make the desert blossom as the rose. If you doubt it take a Sunday trip to Big Rock creek.

Twenty years ago Big Rock creek was one of the remotest and loneliest spots in Los Angeles county. Almost midway of the desolate north slope of the Sierra Madres, between the gateways of the Cajon and Mint canyons, Big Rock was more than twenty miles from the nearest town. It was a day's journey for the plodding horses from Shoemaker's ranch at the canyon's mouth to Palmdale, over a road whose loneliness was intensified by the abandoned ranches here and there along the way. They sought to tame the desert in the days of the boom, in the late eighties, but the desert won the first round.

Today, Big Rock creek is three hours and a half from Los Angeles. The ninety miles of distance, the 4000 feet into the air that you must climb have shrunk to the proportions of a ten-mile journey of horsedrawn days under the magic attribute of gasoline. The road builders have done their share, too.

For a springtime journey from Glendale there is no more delightful trip than the trip to Big Rock creek. The route to be followed lies out San Fernando road, over Newhall grade, Saugus, and Mint canyon. At Alpine Springs, some two miles beyond the summit, the auto club sign points a right-hand turn. From there on to Big Rock there is no pavement, but a dirt road so smooth that it is even more pleasant to drive upon.

Many Pear Orchards

Thousands of acres of thrifty pear orchards are replacing sage brush and Joshua trees all the rest of the way to Little Rock. Automobiles have solved the old-time problem of transportation, tractors help to cultivate the orchards, trucks haul the ripe pears to market in Los Angeles, and gasoline engines pump the wells that supply the orchards. Gasoline has done more than any other one thing to work the magic of the reclamation of the desert.

East from Little Rock the road winds pleasantly up and down small hills, until at Valyermo schoolhouse it dips down to follow the course of Big Rock creek. Big Rock at this season of this particular year is sending down a strong, cold stream from the melting snows of Islip and North Baldy.

Studebaker

PRECISION plays an important part in the manufacture of the Special-Six. It is largely responsible for the dependable service that has singled out the Special-Six as an incomparable value.

Six hundred and eighty inspectors safeguard precision in the Studebaker factories. They literally inspect every part that goes into every car—and every operation on every part. Before cars are passed for delivery 9,500 inspections are made.

In the Special-Six there are 1,120 mechanical operations to the accuracy of one-thousandth of an inch, 360 to one-half-thousandth.

As to the car's performance, a brief experience will reveal its superiority far more convincingly than we could tell it.

Studebaker cars make friends quickly, because they give most for the money. And they invariably keep these friends, because of the universal satisfaction they give in fine performance, economy and service.

Figures Show How Maxwell Is Liked

A remarkable and striking testimonial from the motoring public paid to the manufacturers of the new Maxwell models is revealed in the latest registration figures announced from the Sacramento headquarters of the motor vehicle department, showing that more than 1100 of these cars have passed into the hands of owners within the last six months. This showing, which is, after all, the basis on which manufacturers must get knowledge of the reception of their products, is of greater value when it is known that more than 700 of this number have been registered in California within the past sixty days.

These figures proved extremely gratifying to executives and members of the sales organization of the Glendale Motor Car company, local Maxwell dealers, who have played a great part in bringing the popular cars before the motoring public of southern California, and Lyman P. Clark, of the local staff, in commenting on the great gain in sales, laid the cause on the performance, in owners' hands, of the cars themselves.

"These figures, while they are especially gratifying to us as representatives of the Maxwell, prove conclusively that as more and more of the cars get into the hands of owners, a greater impetus is given to sales and the demand is constantly increasing, due to the performance of the cars and the enthusiasm of the owners over them," says Mr. Clark.

"More truths of the Maxwell sales leadership are revealed in a further study of the sales records compiled over the same period. While the sales of all other makes of automobiles during the month of April, 1922, showed an increase of 35 per cent over the same month last year, they show that Maxwell jumped way to the fore with an increase in sales volume in April, 1922, over April, 1921 of 282 per cent. This is the greatest gain shown by any make of car and is proof conclusive of the wave of popularity that has swept through the entire state for the greater glory of Maxwell.

"Owners' reports from everywhere bear out claims made by the Maxwell engineers who were acclaimed when the new models were shown for the first time at the automobile shows throughout the country this spring. Everyday tests of its power, sturdiness, and performance have resulted in the gain in registrations just announced."

Million in Road Army

Highway construction in the United States is one of the nation's largest industries, and an army of 1,000,000 men labored last year throughout the road building season in making and repairing highways.

When Starting Motor

The motor, when first started, should not be forced above a minimum speed until the bearings, pistons and cylinders are running perfectly free.

Motor Car Is Big Aid to Old Game

It would be interesting to delve into statistics and determine to just what extent the automobile has aided the development of any line of sport, or all lines. It is certainly true that sport flourished, but not in all its glory, before the advent of the horseless carriage. At any rate, however, it has certainly increased its scope since it was possible for Mr. Common People to own an automobile.

"The motor car has greatly aided one of the oldest games known," says Robert S. Breyer, of the Troy Motor Sales company, Nash distributors in southern California, who was talking with E. B. Sutton of the Glendale Nash Sales, 112 South Maryland avenue, "and that is the Royal and Ancient Pastime of Golf. Great numbers of people throughout Europe, and especially in England and Scotland, swarmed the links playing golf, but the automobile has made it possible for thousands of persons in this country to indulge in the sport. An increase is also noticeable in the old country.

"The minutes of today's everyday business man are worth real money to him, and he is one of the greatest devotees to the sport in this country. The only reason for that is the automobile, quick, efficient transportation between his home, the liniks and his office. There are very few golf courses in the entire country that are not accessible to the automobile, and courses to which there is no other transportation, save walking.

"Golf, however, is not the only sport that has been benefited by the motor car. Name any sport and it will owe much of its recent development to the automobile. It is just a matter of a few moments to convince yourself of this. Pass the baseball parks in the morning, visit the beaches, the tennis courts, in fact, any place where sport is indulged in and the automobiles counted there are numbered legion."

Those on Back Seat Require Comfort

If the man who owns and drives an open touring car, sitting in the sheltered spot behind the wheel, could be transplanted into the back seat and had to sit there without a tonneau windshield to turn the wind or a robe to cover him, he would begin to appreciate the discomfort his friends and guests are up against when they do ride in that said back seat.

Even in the summer time, in the average section of country here on the Pacific coast, the people in the back seat of the touring car can appreciate some protection from the wind. In the desert the wind may be hot and those back-seat riders in that section will appreciate the windshields to break the force of the burning air, but through the mountain and coast regions there are few hours in the day when the wind created in the tonneau by the rapidly moving car does not become uncomfortably cool for those who must occupy that place in the machine.

Car owners can show a nice attention to the comforts of their family and guests by providing wind deflectors, and auto robes. In the last few years there has been a great deal of attention paid to the manufacture of deflectors for both the front seat and back seat positions. Many car owners prefer the open model cars for many reasons, but the deflectors make possible some of the comforts of the enclosed models at little cost. At the Western Auto Supply Company stores these articles are given a prominent place because they are so important an accessory and add so much to the comfort of motorists. Deflectors for almost all models of cars are kept on hand and some very attractive displays have been made with them.

Chevrolet Demand Continues, Reported

"There is such a demand for the Chevrolet that it is difficult to keep a stock," says C. L. Smith, local dealer at 400 East Broadway. He further states that "a new coupe was received last Monday, was sold and driven off the floor the same day by William Gibson, 227 Doran street, before I had even seen it."

"Next Monday we will unload a full carload of sedans and coupes, which will enable us to make prompt delivery in the future of closed cars."

Road Building Work

According to statistics given out by the American Road Builders' association there are 114,325 persons engaged in road building work. There are 80,000 Federal, state, town and county highway officials; 1000 road contractors; 2000 bridge contractors; 15,000 civil and highway engineers; 10,000 automotive and chemical engineers, and 325 geologists.

Max L. Green Tells Of Oakland Victory

The echoes of the Yosemite Economy run are still ringing, but above them all the sweeping victory of the Oakland 6-44, both in its class and for the Sweepstakes Cup is the talk of the town.

"Many can claim anything they want about the Yosemite test, but the fact remains that the Oakland was the only car to win two cups," says Max L. Green of Green & McClelland, "and won them over a field of stiff competition.

"To us the Oakland performance on oil consumption was more remarkable than its gasoline economy. This car has always maintained a reputation for big mileage and now, with the 15,000 mile guarantee against oil pumping and the record for using no oil on the 360-mile run proves the new Oakland 6-44 to be as easy on oil as on gasoline.

"While the Oakland used two pints of water for cooling, some cars used as many as twelve and when one thinks that this run took the cars over steep mountain roads that for miles were hub deep with mud and the mixture of the carburetor was exceedingly lean, two pints of water is as nothing.

"To us, it is a clear case of the supremacy of the new Oakland 6-44 construction. This new model embraces many features that are exclusively Oakland and with the radical improvements in the motor and in the chassis we look for a wonderful demand for the car and then a period of proving to the public that these cars are all we claim for them.

"Harry Neville, who drove the car has been working on Oaklands for five years, and he states that all he did to the Yosemite entrant was to ease up the bearings, grind the valves and cut the mixture down in the carburetor and that it exceeded the performance of any Oakland he ever fixed up before."

Loud Call for Cars, Says D. H. Packer

"The outlook for the automobile industry, especially for the Studebaker car, looms up good and big and right now our struggle is to get cars," remarked D. H. Packer of the Packer Auto Company of Glendale yesterday.

"The factory is turning out cars to its capacity, but there has been such a great demand for the Studebaker car throughout the country that it is a problem for the dealers to determine how they can supply the trade as quickly as the trade demands."

The Packer company has added another salesman to its already large list in the person of Sam Bricker, whose brother David is the representative of the Packer company in Burbank. It is the belief of the company that "if Sam makes half the showing that Dave has made that his success is assured from the start."

Last Monday night a large number of garage men turned out to hear Tom Dugan, an engineer from the Stromberg factory, discuss "Carburation." Dugan is regarded as a national authority on the subject and pointed out the fact that sixty-five per cent of the makers of automobiles equip them at the factory with the Stromberg carburetor.

Ford of '09 Vintage On Exhibition Here

The six millionth model "T" Ford motor was produced May 18 in the Ford factory at Detroit. In other words, from the time back in 1908 when the Ford Motor company began marketing the now famous model "T" motor car until May 18, 1922, a total of 6,000,000 Ford cars and trucks have been produced. Out of this total 5,517,956 were delivered to purchasers in the United States alone, and according to the latest statistics, 4,478,248 of these Ford cars and trucks are still in daily service.

Thus, it will be seen that out of every five Ford cars and trucks sold to retail purchasers in the United States alone during the past fourteen years, four are still in actual daily use, which is really remarkable when the hard service of commercial cars is taken into consideration. This seems to forcibly confirm the popular knowledge of the longevity of the Ford car, it is asserted.

There is now on exhibition on the service floor of Jesse E. Smith, local Ford and Lincoln dealer, a roadster, with its original engine block, No. 11,180. This car, built by Ford in October, 1909, is, after thirteen years' continuous service, still in first-class mechanical condition, ready for the road at an age when most cars are scrapped and forgotten.

The Sport Crucible

International News Service Sports Editor

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, June 3.—Criticism of no indefinite character is being levelled throughout the east today against the men who seemingly judged the finishes at the inter-collegiate games with that far away look in the eyes noted, for the most part, in poets, bridegrooms, street cleaners and other pre-occupied individuals. It is said that the judges "booted at least two finishes, namely, those in the 100 yard dash and the quarter mile," and photographs are said to prove it.

Neither by inference nor direct challenge is the integrity of the officials questioned, since the men in question are above suspicion, but the same, apparently, doesn't apply to their eyesight.

At the finish of the 100 yard dash, for example, many thought Eddie Sudden of Stanford deserved better than the fourth place awarded him, and in support of that contention, the following is alleged to have taken place:

The officials got together and picked the man for first, third, fourth and fifth places. What of second place? The judge designated for that task had missed his man. Very well, then, who were the other men in the race? Lovejoy of Cornell and Woodring of Syracuse. Quite simple, then. Lovejoy finished second.

That is the method by which the judges are said to have arrived at their decision, and, regarding it in the most charitable of lights, leaves nothing to recommend it.

In the quarter mile final it is said that the judge picking first place selected Stevenson of Princeton. That individual, however, was also the choice of the judge looking for second place men and the latter finally prevailed, Stevenson being rated second behind Driscoll of Boston college.

Hendrixson of California, Monie of Syracuse, and John of Cornell were given the remaining places to the evident dissatisfaction of many. Pictures of the finish are said to prove that Monie, placed fourth, was beaten not only by Keppisch of Columbia, but Chapman of Yale, and McDonald of California as well, none of whom placed, officially, although McDonald didn't hesitate to say that he did.

When it is realized that the scoring of points in the intercollegiates is almost a life and death matter to the athletes at that stage of their careers, and this irrespective of the importance it bears to the team totals, a more equitable system of judging seems to be demanded. The Swedish system of checking up by photographs might be the answer.

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
(PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE)

They used to call Ping Bodie, "The Fence Buster." The former great hitter is back again in the Coast league playing with Vernon, but, to date, has not shown the earmarks of his youth when he earned the title of "Fence Buster." To date, he has played sixteen games and shows an average of .383, but long hits for extra bases have been a large factor in his figures. Not once so far has he shown the old streak of cracking homers.

It was back in 1910 that Bodies set a Coast league record of thirty home runs for the season, at the time a remarkable performance. In 1916 Bunnie Brief of Salt Lake went Bodie one better and set the record of 33.

Portland and Salt Lake in the series just completed at Portland put up one of the greatest hitting and run-producing series so far played this season and possibly one of the most prolific in this respect for many a day past. Portland netted exactly 133 hits and 94 runs in the nine games played during the week. Salt Lake shows 97 hits and 54 runs. Pitchers of both teams suffered in this week's averages by the wholesale slaughter.

The past week has had a settling tendency of all the hitters of all clubs. As usual, there have been those players who have added to or decreased their averages, but the number of men who have been hitting four hundred or better now shows only one regular, Ellison, S. F., .406 in that class. There are, of course, a few pitchers in the class and Brazil, the new Portland addition, is up with .416, but only for nine games.

Ponder, the Los Angeles pitcher, won another this past week and heads the pitchers with an unbroken string of seven victories and eighteen runs are checked against him. Henke, the Seattle slinger, is also in the thousand per cent class, but with only 3 victories while Schneider of Vernon and Biemiller of Portland are both in the undefeated class with one win each.

The batsmen leading the various departments of the averages including the completion of the eighth week's play are: Most runs, Kamm, S. F., 47; most base hits, O'Connell, S. F., 78; most 2b, Poole, Portland, 19, and Siglin, S. L., 19; most 3b, H. High, Vern., 5; most home runs, Schick, S. L., 9; most SH, McCann, Port., 13; most stolen bases, Cooper, Oakland, 18.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
(PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE)

The series which closed the second month of play in the Pacific Coast league saw some radical changes in the standings of the teams as compared with the week previous. Salt Lake was the worst sufferer and fell from third to eighth place in exactly two weeks, Portland administering the final crusher, when it took last week's series by eight to one games.

A comparison as they stood at the end of the eighth week of play this year and last is as follows:

1922—Vernon, won 30, lost 19, percentage, .612; Los Angeles, 30, 25, .545; San Francisco, 28, 26, .519; Portland, 25, 25, .500; Oakland, 27. 29, .482; Seattle, 25, 28, .472; Sacramento, 24, 30, .444; Salt Lake, 21, 28, .429.

1921—San Francisco, won 33, lost 17, percentage, .660; Sacramento, 30, 19, .612; Los Angeles, 26, 20, .565; Seattle, 25, 23, .621; Vernon, 25, 34, .510; Oakland, 22, 24, .478; Salt Lake, 16, 28, .364; Portland, 11, 33, .250.

Those critics who, assuming that Salt Lake was playing a game far over its head, now have joined the "I told you so" class and are predicting that, having shot its bolt, it will trail round in the second division.

Vernon lost the first series of the present season last week, it either having won or tied all previous series since the start. During the last month, Los Angeles has won all four series. Sacramento won one, San Francisco tied one, Seattle won two and tied one and lost one, Oakland broke even with two wins and two losses, Vernon had two wins, a tie and its first loss, Salt Lake won one, tied one and lost two, while the Portlanders took two of the series and dropped two. Thus, San Francisco during the past four series fared worse than any team in the league as far as series are concerned, but still managed to maintain its place with the first three clubs in the percentage column.

Portland's fine showing against the Salt Lakers brought it up from seventh to fourth place in the six days of play and increased its percentage by eighty-five points.

What Vernon was doing up to the last week of play now is being done by the Los Angeles club. The Angels having developed a consistent attack and defense, which is best shown by the fact that during the thirty days of play they climbed from next to the cellar to next to the leading club.

Indications are at the present time that the prophets among the baseball writers who predicted that Los Angeles and Vernon would be the real obstacles in the pennant race, seems to be bearing fruit.

The hue and cry in the league still continues to be the lack of good pitching staffs and this seems to be borne out by the way in which many of the players are fattening their batting averages.

The Most Economical Car in the Yosemite Test!

Look at the results as set forth by the A. A. A., the only official authority for motor car tests.

Look at the Oakland 6-44 Victory over all entrants—a victory that figures out the same in dollars and cents as it does on score. Based on standard retail prices of Oil and Gasoline in Los Angeles—the Oakland 6-44 shows a lesser operation expense than all competitors, large or small.

29.38 Actual Miles on a Gallon of Gas

Ton miles are all right for scoring, but the actual miles per gallon is what interests the buyer—and the cost of oil makes a difference.

The Oakland consumed no oil on the trip—proof that there is a reason for the 15,000-mile guarantee against oil pumping—we are safe in making it.

It is the wonderful motor—an entirely new motor that made this phenomenal performance possible. If you have not seen the new Oakland 6-44, do so. It represents the greatest motor car value among popularly priced six-cylinder cars.

Sale of Sedans In Glendale Remarkable

George T. Smith, Overland and Willys-Knight dealer at 228 South Brand boulevard, has discovered that Glendale is the most fertile field in southern California for the sale of sedans. "We have placed twenty-one here since December 1," he says, "and the factory branch in Los Angeles informs me that this is a greater number than handled in any other local territory.

"This is the first time that the Los Angeles branch has been without cars for ready delivery," continued Mr. Smith. "Where at other times they have had 500 or more machines on hand, they now only have five or six being used for show purposes. And it is not due to the fact that they are not getting the quota from the factory, but because of remarkable sales.

"The California Edison company has taken an initial order of twenty Overland roadsters on account of their economy. The Sperry Flour company is obtaining twenty Willys-Knight roadsters for their sales force.

"The production of the latter car has been pushed up from forty a day to 105 and it is expected that this soon will be 150, which indicates that the country is getting back to normal again."

These Suggestions Will Benefit You

Keep tires repaired to get best results.

Put on skid chains at the first sign of wet weather.

Approach all crossings cautiously. The worst accidents occur at these points.

In wet weather apply the brake with the clutch still engaged when starting to stop.

When negotiating a grade or curve do not jam the throttle too soon. Bad skids occur that way.

When overtaking and passing a car do not cut in again until about fifty feet ahead of the car just passed.

In approaching a grade crossing shift into second gear. This will eliminate stalling the car on the crossing.

Satisfied Customer Aids Tire Selling

"Canton cords sell themselves," said C. H. Montgomery, the new local manager of the Automobile Tire company store at 211 South Brand boulevard yesterday as he was fitting a car with new rubber in the rear.

"It is the satisfied customer, who has obtained 12,000 miles or better from the Canton cords who are our best boosters. People cannot believe that the mileage is possible at the prices we quote, but it is the policy of this concern to give them more than their money's worth.

"By buying in job lots—whole carloads at a time—we are able to make material savings and pass them on to the customer. Our coast stores soon assimilate the great stocks and the volume of business makes it possible for us to maintain exclusive tire establishments where prompt service is obtained."

RADIO RECORDS OF AMERICAN NAVY NOW SUPREME

Powerful Land Stations Excel Those of Other Nations, Evidence Shows

WASHINGTON — Despite the maulings it has received at the hands of the Armament conference and congress, the United States navy stands supreme today in one respect at least—its system of high-power land stations for radio telegraphy is the most complete of all naval establishments.

The navy's station at Arlington, assigned a wave length of 17,145 metres, is one of the most powerful in the world. Operated by remote control by means of keys in the navy building here, the Arlington station is depended upon day in and day out to transmit messages over a radius of about 5,500 miles. This range includes the extreme eastern end of the Mediterranean Sea, and the same territory also can be reached from the opposite direction by the navy's Philippine station at Cavite, which operates on 13,900 meters.

Some Powerful Plants

Among the navy's larger units southward of the great Annapolis station are the sending plants at Cayey, Porto Rico, using a 10,510-meter wave and the station at Balboa, Canal zone, sending on 10,110 meters. The eastern portion of the Pacific is covered from the continent by a station at San Diego, Cal., and another on Puget Sound, the former using waves of 9,800 meters and the latter waves of 7,100 meters.

In the Hawaiian Islands the navy has two sending stations, one using 11,500 meters and the other 8,875. The naval station at Guam, which sends on 9,145 meters, and the 13,900-meter plant in the Philippines, complete the navy's net of radio stations round the world. Wherever its ships are likely to cruise they nearly always will be within range of the dots and dashes from one of more of the navy's sending stations.

Bordeaux Station Stronger

The Lafayette station near Bordeaux, France, using the longest waves—23,000 meters—conceded to be the most powerful radio station in the world, was built by the United States navy to facilitate America's part in the World War, but has since been sold to France. Its broadcasts are transmitted with ease over the 4000 miles of water and land that separate Bordeaux from Washington, and occasionally it has been heard in French Indo-China, 6000 miles in the east.

The commercial station recently opened on Long Island, using the second longest wave in use, 19,000 meters, is expected to challenge the Lafayette station's title to first place when additional units are added. The Long Island station is used for transmitting messages to Germany, about 4000 miles away.

British Use Postoffice

The British navy, time-honored "Mistress of the Seas," in direct contrast to the American navy, does not maintain a system of land stations of its own, but uses those of the British posoffice.

Though these postal stations practically encircle the earth they do so in much smaller "jumps" than those of the United States navy and therefore use less powerful stations.

Seven of the twelve longest-wave stations which follow Annapolis are in the United States or its territories. They are commercial stations at Barnegat, N. J., 16,800 meters; St. James, Long Island, 16,465; Kohuku, Hawaiian Islands, 16,300, and Tuckerton, N. J., 15,900; the navy station at Cavite, Philippine Islands and commercial stations at New Brunswick, N. J., 13,600 meters and Bolinas, Cal., 13,310 meters.

Numerous United States army sending stations, operating on wave lengths from a few hundred to 10,000 meters, are scattered over the country. The postoffice department at its several stations sends on waves for the most part between 1000 and 4000 meters long.

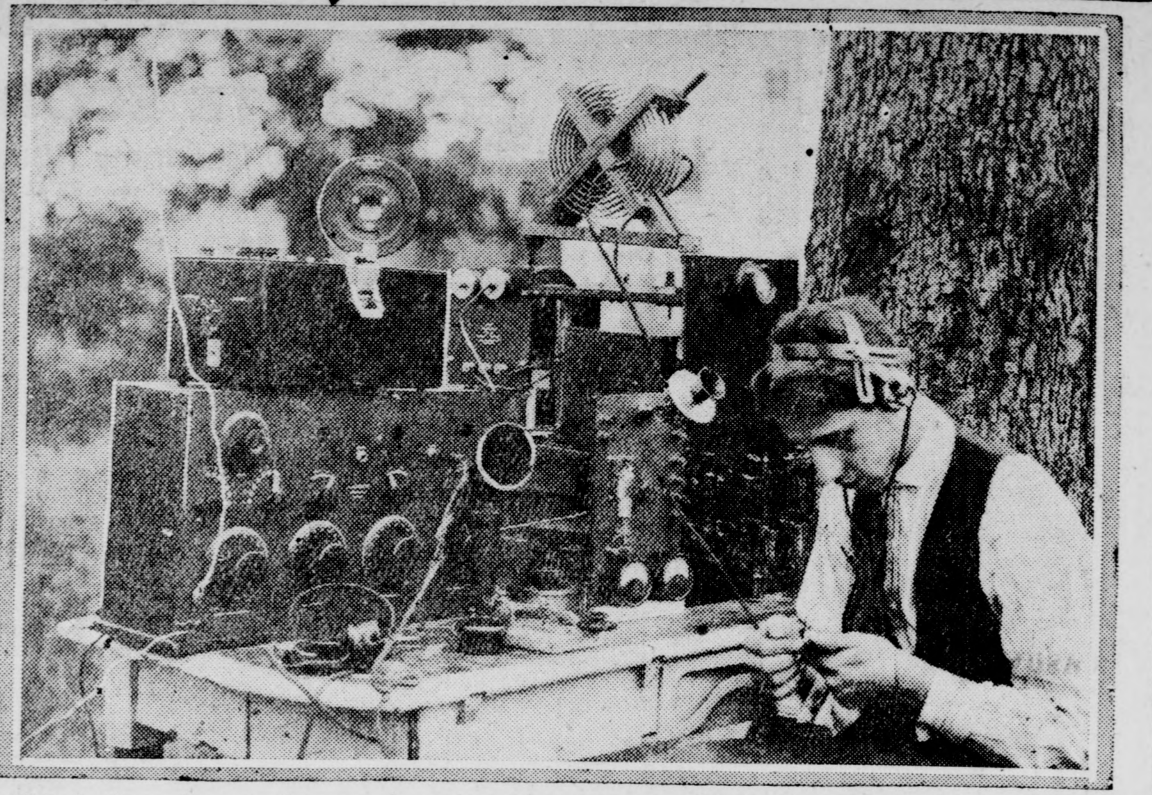
What Do You Think Of This Amateur Set?



This is the radio set of an amateur, but who would think it? It is as complete a set as one would wish for and is capable of sending messages for miles, as well as receiving them. The set is shown all ready to receive or send. The aerial is the tree next to the apparatus.

RADIO EXPLAINED

By E. H. LEWIS

INSTRUCTOR NEW YORK Y.M.C.A. RADIO SCHOOL

A BUZZER TEST FOR THE CRYSTAL DETECTOR

It quite often happens with a crystal detector receiving circuit that the crystal needs adjusting. With a galena crystal, for example, it is customary to use a fine pointed wire, resting rather lightly on the surface of the mineral. Not all points on the surface are good ones for rectification of very weak currents. That is, not all points are sensitive. It then becomes necessary to poke the pointed wire at several spots on the crystal, while signals are being received, to find a sensitive one. But what is to be done when no signals are to be received? It might be desirable to adjust the detector for maximum sensitiveness before the radio broadcast begins, so that nothing will be missed. This would seem to call for a local transmitter of extremely low power, which could be used for making the signals desired in testing.

A buzzer has a vibrating spring armature, which carries a contact. When current from a battery is allowed to flow through the magnet coils of the buzzer this armature or vibrator moves rapidly to and fro, alternately opening and closing the buzzer circuit. At each opening a spark jumps between the vibrator contact and the fixed contact, due to the counter electromotive force of self-induction developed in the magnet windings. This spark induces oscillations in the receiver circuits if the buzzer is placed very closely to the receiver. The connection may be as shown in the illustration. The buzzer then acts as a miniature sending machine, when the push button is pressed, and the crystal can be adjusted until a maximum sound is heard in the head telephones. It will then be in its most sensitive adjustment. The oscillations induced in the receiver circuits are of whatever frequency the circuits are tuned to. There is no resonance effected between the buzzer circuit and the receiver, so that the crystal may be adjusted regardless of the wave length the receiver is adjusted for.

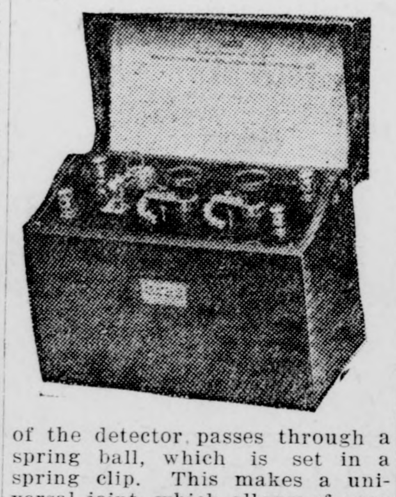
A CRYSTAL DETECTOR RECEIVER

There are crystal detector receivers galore, and a prospective radoa broadcast listener is often very much confused in the selection of his first set. The one illustrated is, however, especially designed for radiophone reception and has some very practical features. For example, there are two holes on either side of the cabinet through which antenna, ground and headphone wires may be passed before connecting to the binding posts on the panel. This allows the cover to be closed without disconnecting the wires or in any way injuring them. The cover will remain in an upright position when opened. An instruction card is placed inside of the cover, where it may be easily referred to when the set is being connected up and operated for the first time.

The mineral used in the detector is radiocite and is quite sensitive to weak signals. The lever of the detector passes through a spring ball, which is set in a spring clip. This makes a universal joint, which allows of easy manipulation of the pointed wire (cat whisker), when adjusting the crystal for maximum sensitiveness. It holds very firmly, so that ordinary jarring will not destroy the detector adjustment. The receiving wave length range is from about 150 to 900 meters, when used with the average sized single wire antenna.

The tuning elements, except switches, switch points and knobs, are placed beneath the bakelite panel, where no dust can reach them. The cabinet is very nicely finished in mahogany, and the whole set is very pleasing in appearance, as well as nearly perfect mechanically as is possible.



C. C. WINDHAM RESIGNS

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—C. C. Windham, county civil service commissioner, has resigned, and his resignation has been accepted by the board of supervisors, it was revealed today. Windham, who has been a member of the commission for the past six years, submitted his resignation in order to accept an appointment as postmaster at Long Beach, where he resides.

Even Radio Expert Cannot Solve This

By GEORGE VAN SANDS
Radio Editor The Evening News

Funny thing about radio, the more you know, the less you know, which pretty well illustrates the remark of some one of those old time philosophers, forget just who it was, seems to me it was Socrates, who claimed that you are just actually beginning to learn something, when you wake up to the fact that you don't know anything, and this certainly proves true in radio.

The other day, I was fooling around with my set and left the aerial and ground wire off the receiver, and came on downtown, and that evening I hooked the aerial and ground wires back on to the set so that I could listen in to the regular evening concert. Everything went along pretty, and the music seemed to come in exceptionally clear that evening, and after I had been entertained for about half an hour I happened to glance at the binding posts on my set, and to my absolute amazement discovered that I had the ground and aerial wires connected up exactly wrong; that is, where the correct and only one way to connect them is to hook the aerial wire to the aerial binding post of the receiver, and the ground wire to the ground binding post, I had it turned just the other way around, and my aerial wire was attached to the ground binding post and likewise the ground wire to the aerial binding post, and yet the set was working perfectly, and, in fact, seemed to work better than it did before. I told this to a friend of mine and he simply would not believe it, and to convince himself tried this same method on his own set, and, sure enough, it worked just like my set did. Now, why it should work this way, I haven't the slightest idea; could make a number of guesses, but when it comes down to the actual reason of it, I confess that I will simply have to pass.

Here is a little tip to those of our readers who have crystal sets: If you have an old Ford spark coil lying around the house, tear it to pieces; you will find it full of a lot of tar-like substance, a couple of coils of the finest copper wire you ever saw, inside of which is a magnetic coil, a tinfoil condenser, about an inch wide, about four inches long and about three-quarters of an inch thick. About the only thing that you can really salvage is this condenser, but if you will connect that condenser up between your tuning coil, that is, shunt it across between the first and last turn of wire on the coil, you will be surprised at the marked improvement in audibility of your set. It will make the average crystal set just about fifty per cent louder on wave lengths of 360 meters, the wave length that most of this Los Angeles broadcasting is sent on.

I thought it kind of funny that there wasn't something in a Ford that would be an aid to radio, and I really believe if you were broken down out in the middle of the desert with a flivver, you could take a few pieces off of it and make a pretty good wireless telephone set and get into radio communication with Jesse Smith's tow car.

Questions on Radio and Their Answers

Question: Please tell me if I can use any other kind of a vacuum tube detector in place of the tube used in the Westinghouse Aeriola Sr., set by connecting 8888 to a separate socket?—M. B. N., Glendale.

Answer: Yes, this could be done, but you would have to have a storage battery for the current for the filament or any other tube. If you have ruined the tube that came with your set, why not write the Westinghouse branch over in Los Angeles or go to the dealer that sold you the set, and perhaps he can make a replacement for you.

Question: Can you tell me where is the best place to buy my radio supplies in Glendale?—H. F., Glendale.

Answer: Most of them advertise in The Evening News; takes two to make a bargain, advise you to go radio shopping and see for yourself. There are sets for any size pocketbook.

Question: Please tell me the difference between a grid condenser and a grid leak condenser?—T. L. S., Eagle Rock.

Answer: A grid leak condenser is a grid leak and condenser combined in one unit. They are both used for the same purpose.

Question: Is there any decided advantage in using aluminum for a variable condenser?—A. H. G., Glendale.

Answer: Brass or copper can be used, but aluminum is lighter and does not corrode as easily and for that reason is recommended.

Question: How long will the dry cell used for lighting the filament in the tube of the Westinghouse Sr. set last, and how can you tell which is the correct way to replace the tube as the holes in the socket are not marked.—V. C., Glendale.

Answer: With normal use the battery should last a month or six weeks, but if you have it hooked on considerable, it won't last near that long. Now about the way to replace the tube in your set: You will notice prongs extending from the base of the tube, and you will see that one of them is larger around than the other; likewise there is a larger hole to fit this prong, so it is pretty hard to go wrong.

Question: Why is it necessary to have the ground lead as short as possible.—G. H., Glendale.

Answer: A long ground lead, means just that much more resistance in the ground circuit, and this means lost energy, which in turn means reduced efficiency.

Question: I note that all directions say to have your ground wire as short as possible, and will you be so kind as to put in The Evening News if the ground connection actually commences where the wire is attached to the water pipe, or does the connection start when the pipe itself actually enters the ground? This information will be greatly appreciated. —D. H. K., Glendale.

Answer: The ground connection only commences when the pipe or whatever other object is used for the ground actually enters the earth. To make it a little plainer, if you lived in a two-story house your ground connection would be shorter if you attached your ground wire to the water pipe on the first floor, than if you attached it to the same pipe on the second floor.

Question: Why is it that a receiving set will get a certain broadcasting station almost perfect one day, and perhaps the next day it does not get it near as good?—M. G., Glendale.

Answer: This is a question that can not be answered; nobody knows. This is one of the many different mysterious features connected with radio that up to this time remains unsolved.

The nursing staff of the Glendale Research Hospital has been increased by the addition of Mrs. Georgina Trautwein of 1144 North Adams Place, Miss Lucille Gilbert of Los Angeles and Miss Lillian Honin of Los Angeles.

Interest

A man with a growing business finds it easier to pay interest than to repay loans. Banks could loan all the money the government could mint if they could tell the borrowers to keep the money as long as they could pay the interest regularly. Isn't it easier and more logical to pay a low rate of interest—2½, 3 or 4 per cent for a sinking fund and the protection of your estate with Life Insurance than to have to set aside a part of your working capital for that purpose—OF COURSE IT IS!

You have some—not enough—your need is increasing constantly. Let me fit the next contract to your necessity.

Dancing, Card Party Benefit Is Success

Mrs. T. J. Morgan of 1636 North Verdugo Road, assisted by Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. T. J. Keleher and Mrs. J. Zimmer and Miss Ann and Irene Morgan, was hostess Thursday afternoon and night at a dancing and card party for the benefit of the Holy Family Catholic church. The house was a veritable garden of American Beauty roses from the grounds of the Morgan home.

In the afternoon bridge and 500 were played, Mrs. C. E. Norton winning first prize at bridge and Mrs. W. C. Tyrrel first prize at 500. Miss Dorothea Vogel delighted those present with her vocal rendition of one of her own compositions.

In the evening dancing and 500 were enjoyed, Mr. and Mrs. Hartman winning the first prizes. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Girard gave several of their charming vocal duets. Refreshments were served both afternoon and evening and $60 was realized for the church.

Large Fan Installed to Cool Off Dancers

A large fan has now been installed in the I. O. O. F. hall in the Ralphs building so that the "Nickle Dances" may be repeated every Saturday night during the summer.

These dances are under the management of A. D. Hurd, 110 South Adams; A. A. Baines, 1140 East Chestnut street; and John Valerius, 404 North Jackson street, all of whom are prominent local Odd Fellows. They are interested in weekly dances at Monte Vista, also. These are under the direct supervision of Mr. Valerius.

"Everybody is welcome to come up and have a good time at these dances provided they behave themselves," asserted Mr. Hurd this morning. "Patrons seem to like these dances and well satisfied."

MUSIC CLUB GIVES ANNUAL BANQUET, ALSO RECITAL

Ability of American Woman Theme of Gathering for Local Organization

club was unable to be present. Greetings were extended by representatives of the newspapers.

Charles C. Draa, director of publicity of the State Federation of Music clubs and editor of the Federation Bulletin, referred to the special mention which has been made in the eastern magazines of the splendid work and growth of the Glendale Music club. He told of the publicity given in the state bulletin in which the activities of the local organization have been made known throughout the state.

Mrs. Gertrude Ross, pianist-composer, who has appeared before the members of the club in two concerts, was introduced by Mrs. Jones and received a splendid ovation from the club members and friends. The theme of the evening being "Women in Music," Mrs. Ross spoke on "The Woman Composer." She extended thanks to organizations like the local music club for the appreciation that is being given American music and the American composer.

"Women reflect just as much intelligence and can achieve just as much along the creative lines in music," she stated, and referred to the work of some of the women composers, including Mrs. H. A. Beach, Mabel Daniels, Harriet Ware, Fay Foster, Alice Barnett and Carrie Jacobs Bond.

Program Fine Success

Mrs. J. Spencer Kelley was introduced and gave a very beautiful vocal interpretation of "Ah Love, but a Day" (Mrs. Beach), and responded to an encore. Vernon Spencer, composer and who is also known for his active work as a teacher, gave a most interesting talk on "Women as Patrons in Music." The women's clubs have popularized classical music in communities where it was hardly ever heard before, he stated.

"The things that we do not like in music are the things that we do not know. The reason we like the popular music is because we hear it and get to like it for about three weeks, which is the average life of a popular song. It is the activities of the clubs that have made for the cultural influence of music and its appreciation in America," he said.

Frances Goldwater of Los Angeles, who has achieved success as a woman manager spoke on the subject "The Woman Manager." She stated that it was not the question of whether it was a man or a woman manager so long as the results produced were a step in the right direction for music.

"There is a definite field for the woman manager as well as in other lines if she goes into it heart and soul and with the belief that she can do something worth while," she said.

J. Spencer Kelley was introduced and gave a very pleasing vocal solo, "The Spirit Flower" (Tipton). The duet given by Mr. and Mrs. Kelley "Absent" (Metcalf) was very beautiful. L. E. Behymer, who is known as the pioneer manager of this state and has done much in promoting music, was the next speaker and gave a most interesting talk on "Women Artists I Have Known."

"We often wonder why we hear so much about the woman singer," said the speaker. "It takes real emotion and real heart throbs to be a singer. The women possess these attributes and also have an intuition that the coarser quality of man does not possess. With the combination of the women's clubs, the American singer, the school room and the church we have become gradually a musical nation. As Chief Burns, the detective says, 'If you put music in the home, music in the heart and music in the schools, you will have a city with a minimum of crime.' "

Present Club Officers

The members and guests then adjourned to the auditorium, where the new club officers for the ensuing year were presented: Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president; Mrs. Nathan Rigdon, first vice president; Mrs. Dora Gibson, second vice president; Mrs. Calvin Whiting, recording secretary; Mrs. Helen I. Campbell, corresponding secreary; Mrs. Warren Roberts, treasurer; Miss Gertrude Champlain, financial secretary; Mrs. Charles Marlenee, Mrs. Frank Arnold, Mrs. E. W. Kinney, directors. Mrs. Jones thanked the Loomis-Shuck Music company, through whose courtesy the artist of the evening, Olga Steeb, had been secured. This was her fourth appearance in Glendale and she is always most heartily received.

The program given by her included: "Gavotte" (Rambeau). "Minuet" (Schubert) and "Pastoral Varice" (Mozart). This latter piece was repeated on the Knabe Ampico from a previous recording by Miss Steeb. The performance on the Ampico was truly remarkable, being indistinguishable from that of the artist herself. Other numbers given by Miss Steeb included "Rhapsodie" (Brahms), "Nocturne" (Chopin), "Seguidilla" (Albeniz), "White Peacock" (Griffes), "On Wings of Song" (Mendelssohn-Liszt) and "Tarantella" (Liszt).

Portions of the "Tarantella" were played by Miss Steeb in person and portions by the Knabe Ampico from a recording of Miss Steeb's playing. As an encore she played the "Country Dance" (MacFayden).

Miss Steeb's playing is noted for her wonderful interpretation and technique and she surpassed herself in last night's recital. Over 600 people were present at this program which closed a very brilliant season of activities of the Glendale Music club.

Local Girls Present Delightful Program

On Thursday night, June 1, Shirley and Glenn Hitchcock, Dorothy Dutton, Evelyn and Leona Hunt, Cecilia Mae Fischer and Helen Orr, pupils of the Pearl Keller school of dancing, presented a very delightful program in the ballroom of the Ambassador hotel at a grand ball and entertainment given for the delegates and guests of the sixth annual convention of the Pacific Coast Electrical association, which closes tonight.

The dance presented was called "A Garden Dance," and the appearance of these young women in picturesque costumes of Colonial days, which were in the pastel shades and very elaborate, was greeted with much applause. The dance number presented by them proved to be so popular that it was repeated as an encore. This "Garden Dance" will be presented in Glendale on June 16 at the Glendale theatre when the pupils of the Pearl Keller school will present the annual society vaudeville.

R. E. Bock Disposes Of Beloved Violin

In spite of the sentimental value that he placed upon an old violin he has used for years and which bore the famous J. Albert trademark of the New York manufactprer, R. E. Bock, a musician, who resides in 905 South Verdugo ave-resides in 905 South Verdugo Road, today traded in his beloved instrument for one made right here in Glendale.

Bock related how he noticed the old fiddle was losing its tone, but still hated to part with it since it had carried him throug thousands of performances in the east, in fact, throughout the country. But he found another, he thinks, even better than the one he parted with when he met F. M. Anderson, who conducts a violin manufacturing shop in Franklin Court.

Bock maintains that his new instrument will have to endure much usage to prove its worth over the one he discarded, but said that if it retains its present tone he will be contented.

Another Family to Come From Illinois

Glendale soon will add another family of three members to its daily growing population. In a letter which Robert Austin of 628 East Maple street received yesterday from John Wessendorf, his father-in-law, who resides in Waukeagan, Ill., Wessendorf, his wife and son Henry will leave the Illinois town by automobile, coming direct to Glendale.

The elder Wessendorf visited Glendale about a year ago and was so thoroughly delighted with the surroundings that he practically decided at that time to come here some time in the future. Now, since his mind has been made up his relatives hope to see him motoring in almost any day after the middle of July. Wessendorf has been a florist for many years in Waukeagan and owns a large nursery which he hopes to dispose of before coming here. His son has been a fireman on the N. & W. railway.

Building Permits Now Reach $12,010

The total for the year, so far, is over $2,848,464.

Permits issued yesterday were the following:

B. E. C. Slawson, remodeling house and building garage, 1468 East Wilson avenue	$ 2,750
E. C. McFarland, bungalow, 347 West Maple street	2,000
E. C. McFarland, bungalow, 345 West Maple street	2,000
J. E. Carpenter, 3 rooms, 301½ East Garfield avenue	1,000
M. M. Patterson, addition to garage, 116 South Belmont street	300

CHANGE OF RESIDENCE

The Misses Olive and Margaret Taylor are moving this week from North Louise street to 715 South Louise. They are expecting a sister from the east to arrive to spend the summer with them and their father plans to join them later in the season. The Misses Taylor have just been appointed to fill vacancies in the Glendale schools.

—the delays; scorched, torn and lost pieces; extra expense for soap, starch and delivery; being without clean clothes and fresh linens when you need them most; the general uncertainty and dissatisfaction of being dependent for service upon someone you know little of and less about the conditions under which your clothes are washed—figure it up, and you are certain to be convinced that our service is not only better, but more economical than servant labor.

Glendale Elks team No. 2 started off with a bang in the first game with Los Angeles No. 2 pin tumblers on the local alleys last night, nicking the timber for a count of 932 against 847 for the visitors. The pace set for the first game was a little too fast and Glendale dropped the last two to 99's warriors.

Coast League Will Stick With Landis

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—A special meeting of the Pacific Coast league today had failed to clarify to a considerable extent the situation created by the disbarment of W. H. Klepper and James Brewster, heads of the Portland club, and their manager, William Kenworthy, by Judge Landis.

The league went on record as adhering to the decision. A resolution was passed, however, requesting the "czar of baseball" to give consideration to legal briefs to be submitted in an appeal by the directors of the Portland club. Until this appeal is heard, the Portland club abides by the terms of the decision.

At the same time it was reported negotiations were on for the sale of the Portland club. Three San Francisco capitalists were reported to have conferred with Klepper and Brewster while G. A. Putnam, secretary of the San Francisco club, was said to have made an offer.

Judge Landis Will Scan Legal Briefs

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, will give consideration to the legal briefs to be submitted in behalf of the Portland club bearing on the question of whether Landis exceeded his authority in ordering the disbarment of W. H. Klepper and James Brewster from connection with the Portland club for a long period.

President McCarthy today received a telegram from Landis in answer to one sent yesterday outlining the fact that the league had voted to stand by the decision but respectfully requested consideration of briefs to be submitted by the Portland club.

Landis' telegram read:

"Thanks for your telegram. Of course will give consideration to anything the parties may desire to present."

Georges Carpentier Will Go On Stage

PARIS, June 3.—Georges Carpentier, French "Apollo of the prize ring," is going on the stage. He has already accepted an offer to go into the movies but that only inspired an ambition for the legitimate, so Georges is going to grace the boards.

Tagging All Bases

The home run fest continued at St. Louis, Ken Williams taking the lead in the major league free-for-all by scoring his fourteenth of the season, while "Bib" Falk of the White Sox, obliged with his fourth within three days. Babe Ruth had sixteen at this time last year. The Browns ruined Ferdie Schupp, batting around in the fourth, winning 12 to 4.

The Cincinnati Reds indulged in another batting orgy at the expense of four Cub hurlers and made it two in a row, 11 to 7.

The Giants were brought down closer to the Pirates and the rest of the field when they lost again to the Braves, 7 to 3.

Ty Cobb and Harry Heilman, who will be returned to good standing today, again watched the helpless Tigers get 13 hits, yet lose to the Indians, 9 to 4

Giants Slip Fast; Hitters Not Hitting

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 3.—The New York Giants, having staked themselves to a jolly little spurt at the rate of .300 through the last weeks of the campaign, seem to be slipping hard now. The Giants cannot hope to stand off the Pirates and Cardinals with the kind of baseball they have been playing of late, and the worst of it is that they can look to the future with no great degree of relish.

Where they are losing ball games now because the hitters are not hitting, they will lose many more in the later season when the doubleheaders begin to pile up. By that time the hitters will have shaken off their slump long since, but the Giants haven't the pitchers to get away with it and nobody knows that better than John McGraw himself.

Some critics are laying the present slump to a lack of harmony in the club. There is probably nothing of that kind with McGraw around. Failure to hit is the answer right now.

Failure of the pitchers and the hand of fate which seems to decree that no National league champions of the present era can repeat. Within the last eighteen years, only two National league clubs—the Cubs of 1906, 1907 and 1908 and the Giants of 1911, 1912 and 1913—have been able to come back after winning the title and ballplayers are notoriously superstitious.

In this case they have reason to be for since 1914 no single machine has been able to repeat within four years of its original success and by that time many of its component parts have been replaced or altered.

Happy Felsch Loses His Fight in Court

MILWAUKEE, June 3.—Oscar (Happy) Felsch, former White Sox outfielder, lost his fight today to force Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, to come into court here and answer certain questions bearing upon Comiskey's alleged knowledge of charges that the 1917 pennant was won by the Sox through connivance with the Detroit Tigers.

Judge John A. Gregory today denied Felsch's motion that Comiskey and his son Louis be ordered to appear in court.

Merchants to Play Pasadena's Tigers

The Glendale Merchants will play the Pasadena Tigers Sunday, June 4, at Park avenue and San Fernando Road, the game being called for 2:30 o'clock. The Merchants have an unusually strong line-up, including McIntosh, formerly of the Western league, who will play second base. Walt Heidler will perform on the mound and King will catch. Others in uniform will be Acosta, 3b; Wilson, ss; Bell, 1b; Cobb, lf; Kearns cf, and Cummings rf.

ESTABLISH NEW RECORD

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—Both marriages and divorces established new records for a single month so far this year, according to figures compile dfor the month of May. The figures show that 1094 licenses to marry were issued. In another department of the county clerk's office a total of 500 suits for divorce, annulment and separate maintenance were filed in the same period.

JACK PICKFORD TO WED

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—After repeated rumors and denials of the engagement of Jack Pickford to Miss Marilynn Miller, dancing star of "Sally," now playing in Boston, local film circles were agog over the actual confirmation of the contemplated wedding by Jack Pickford. The confusion caused by the various indefinite reports, extending over a period of months, was dispelled when the film star informed his mother in a long distance call from New York that the engagement really exists.

HIGH SCHOOL ART DISPLAYS GAIN HIGH PRAISE

as good as any on the market today. A one horsepower single cylinder engine was also made by the students of the machine shop as well as the spotlight which has been used during the school year.

Equalizing Dividers

Among the objects worthy of special attention, according to Mr. Smith, is a pair of equalizing dividers designed and made by Bert Aageson. These are adjustable to different ratios of proportion in copying mechanical drawing.

A mechanical drawing of a complete Mallet articulated locomotive made by George Roach was one of the features of the mechanical drawing exhibit. This was matched by a similar drawing of another type of locomotive by Earl Bohm. Arthur Oliver, head of this department, has received a number of compliments for the neatness and attractiveness of the drawings on display.

Geometrical problems and illustrations of hand lettering were on display in the adjoining room. They also attracted many compliments. George O. Lockwood, instructor in this department, stated that most of them had been done by first year students in this work.

The penmanship exhibition almost rivaled the art display. Instead of reams of paper covered with an entrancing sentence such as "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party"—or maybe it was "country"—a number of pen and ink illustrations of various subjects were on display. Most of them were made under the direction of Preston A. Fullen, instructor of this department.

Samples of Typewriters

The typewriting exhibition consisted of samples of typewriting accompanied by designs carried out with the typewriter alphabet.

A chart showing how the family budget should be divided for current expenses was a feature of the display in the cooking department which is Miss Ellen J. Hanson's domain. Until the close of the exhibit the tables were loaded with sample good things to eat while many jars of preserves were to be seen.

Dresses of many hues and both thick and thin materials were part of the sewing department's wardrobe. Miss Mary Hairgrove stated that the dresses were of three kinds, "school, house, and fancy."

Colored Fashion Plates

A series of water colored fashion plates attracted much attention in the drawing department. This was originated and made under the direction of Miss Esther Crandall by the eight members of the costume designing department: Miss Doris Taylor, Miss Midu Bullis, Miss Caroline MacClean, Miss Sibyl Grimes, Miss Orrell Hester, Miss Bernice Huskins and Miss Winifred Allardice.

Applied art was illustrated well throughout the entire drawing department. Included in the display were samples of batik work, block printing, stenciling, polycrome work, tie dying and enamel painting. Miss Jeanette Abel was quite proud of the diversified nature of the exhibit.

"We try to make the work very practical," stated Miss Mary Beth Abbott, head of the drawing department.

Dramatic Vaudeville Act Gains Praise

"The Price of a Kiss," the dramatic vaudeville act appearing at the T. D. & L. theatre tonight for the last times, won instant approval of the packed house which witnessed the initial performance last night. This sketch is the production of Rex Taylor and Mel Brown, two prominent writers who already have several of their playlets going over the Orpheum circuit. The cast of eight players is exceptional. All are accomplished people and number among them popular actors of the screen.

In its twenty minutes of action "The Price of a Kiss" runs the gauntlet for emotion, deep drama, comedy situations and mystery. Glendale theatregoers will recognize this act as of superior quality—unlike the usual vaudeville seen here. Manager Ralph Allan in presenting this act has not spoken of it with any too much praise—it is a big act and is given in addition to Gertrude Atherton's picture play "Don't Forget Your Wife," and an excruciatingly funny comedy. An excellent show—real entertainment and thoroughly to be enjoyed by all who see it.

What is claimed to be the most ambitious screen effort of George Fitzmaurice, is his Paramount picturization of Booth Tarkington's thrilling novel, "The Man from Home," which comes to the T. D. & L. theatre. tomorrow. Filmed in Italy, the locale of the story, and with a superlative cast of popular players, the picture sweeps the onlooker through a breathless succession of incidents to a startling climax. James Kirkwood, Anna Q. Nilsson, Norman Kerry and John Miltern and Dorothy Cumming have the principal roles.

George T. Vallance, New Owner of Market At Eagle Rock, Comes From Old Scotland

Hoot Mon! We have with us now the brother-in-law of Sir Harry Lauder. He says so himself and he can wear the kilties and the roll downs and the feather duster and tell stories and sing songs.

George T. Vallance, who has bought the Perfection market at 728 East Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock, from C. A. Schultze, comes from Dumferline, the birthplace of Andrew Carnegie.

Seems his sister is the Lady Lauder and George and Harry have swapped stories, so you may hear some of the jesting knight's best if you drop around to Vallance's place of business. He is equally glad to roll his r-r-r-s as to roll the Sunday roast.

National Magazine Is Issued by Elks

The first issue of a new monthly periodical, The Elks' Magazine, has just made its appearance. National Publication of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, published under the direction of the Elks' National Memorial headquarters commission, the magazine begins its career with a subscription circulation of 850,000.

Its purpose, as set forth in the opening pages, is to provide a medium through which the grand lodge, governing body of the order, may bring home to each individual member the fact that he belongs not merely to a local lodge but to a nation-wide organization.

Beginning with a letter of Godspeed from President Harding—who, by the way, is an Elk himself—and a message from William W. Mountain, grand exalted ruler, to the order at large, the first number swings into fiction and timely articles, followed by features which, though designed for Elk consumption, are scarcely less interesting to the outside reader.

For fifty-four years the Order of Elks has stood for all that is best in our national life. Its growth has been steady and substantial and has made it a steadily increasing influence for good. The mission of The Elks Magazine is to interpret the spirit of the organization whose name it bears.

Special Series Of Sermons Announced

A special series of morning and evening sermons will begin at the Presbyterian church tomorrow. The pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, stated this morning that two Victorious Life conferences have just been held in this church. One of these conferences was general and the other was especially for young people. These series of sermons will be in the nature of post conference sermons and while they have been prepared especially for the purpose of helping those who are interested in deepening the spiritual life, yet will be of great interest to all, it is declared.

The general subject for the morning services will be "Harmonies." The subjects, week by week, at the morning services, will be: "The Christian Walk," "The Forgotten Secret," "Environment," "Experience," "The Christ Life," "Worship and Fellowship."

The general subject for the evening service will be "Discords." The themes, night by night, will be: "The Discord of Sin," "The Noisy Passion for Pelf," "The Beasts of Ephesus," "A Young Man Out of Tune," "Strains True and False in Our National Anthem," "The Hiss of the Hypocrite."

Mr. and Mrs. Gough to Locate In City

Mr. and Mrs. Veloy Gough of Idaho Falls, Idaho, recently arrived in Glendale and are guests at the home of Mrs. Gough's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Thede of 1527 East Maple avenue. The many local friends of Mrs. Gough, who was formerly known as Miss Eva Thede, will be pleased to hear the announcement that the couple have practically decided to make Glendale their permanent home.

Mrs. Gough claims a large circle of friends in this city, she having spent her girlhood days here. She was educated in the local schools and was a member of the graduating class of June, 1919, at the Glendale Union High school. She was known throughout the city for her vocal talent, having been one of the leading soloists at the First Methodist church for several years.

Tuesday Club Plans to Present Pageant

The members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale, of which Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson is president, are planning to place the name of the first president of that organization, the late Cora Taylor, on the honor roll and in order to secure funds for that purpose and also for the promotion of women's work in the state of California will present the pageant "The History of California" at the Glendale theatre the afternoon of June 9, at 3:30 o'clock. This wonderful pageant was filmed at Yosemite valley during the state convention of women's clubs held there last year.

and co-operation toward the world and humanity instead of isolation and selfishness." The conclusion is that it is America's destiny to lead the world.

Second and Third

Second place was won by Dorothy Thomas, representing Los Angeles High school. Her oration was entitled, "Just Taxation, a Step Toward Democracy." She advocated that the common masses be relieved from taxation and that the rich bear the greatest burden.

Frank Dolan won third place for Pasadena High school. His oration was "And American Problem, the Negro." It was a eulogy and a defense of the millions of American negroes.

The judges of thought and composition were the heads of the English departments of Occidental and Pomona colleges and the University of Southern California.

The judges on delivery were Professor Jenkins of U. S. C., Professor McGinnis of U. C., Southern Branch, and Mrs. Pipal of the English department of Occidental college.

Glendale was unusually well represented at the contest by a large number of the student body, more than any other school, and the Glendale rooters had the spirit. Among those at the contest were Principal and Mrs. Moyse, Mr. Baker of the commercial department, W. D. Root, former debating and oratory instructor of Glendale Union High school, and Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, mother of the winner.

Wanda Hawley Star In 'The Love Charm'

As a demure little modern Cinderella who toils thanklessly for the vulgar rich relations with whom she makes her home, Wanda Hawley is making a decided hit in "The Love Charm," which is the current feature at the Glendale Theatre.

One of the best entertaining bills of vaudeville comes today. While no act holds headline honors, every offering is a vehicle of class. Chief Eagle Horse, in his Indian novelty, opens the show, in native songs and stories.

Jean and Shayne, two beautiful girls in a musical cycle, should prove a hit. Their offering is beautifully mounted and these young ladies have inimitable personality. Fitch Cooper, "The Musical Rube," will get laughs from his first entrance. He has an original delivery and his material is up to the minute and snappy.

Bryon and Aileen "Planning a Bungalow" have produced an original idea in song and story. The Florenz Duo are exponents of a sensationally fast and thrilling routine of ground tumbling and hand to hand balancing.

The Rex Ingram production for Metro of "The Conquering Power," greeted in New York as one of the truly great motion pictures of the age, is announced by the Glendale Theatre, beginning Sunday. It is an adaptation by June Mathis of Balzac's novel, "Eugenie Grandet," a powerful story of love and greed in a small French provincial town.

Alice Terry and Rodolph Valentino are cast in the leading roles.

Boy Scout Uniform Week Is June 5-10

The week of June 5 to 10, inclusive, has been set aside by the Verdugo Hills district council, Boy Scouts of America, as Boy Scout Uniform Week and the slogan "Every Scout a Uniform," has been adopted. The reason for Boy Scout Uniform Week is to encourage every Boy Scout in the district to get a uniform before the camping season begins.

Although the boys are being urged during Boy Scout Uniform Week to buy a complete uniform it is a strict rule of the organization that no boy shall have to buy one. On the other hand, boys are encouraged to go into the organization whether they can afford a uniform or not, it being maintained that the fellow without a uniform is in a great many cases as good if not a better Scout than the fellow with all the "fixings."

Plans are under way for making of Boy Scout Uniform Week a big affair in the annals of the local Boy Scout history. A special camp will be erected in the "Men's Shop" of the H. S. Webb company, by real Boy Scouts and living models will show off the uniforms. It is planned to give daily radio concerts to the Scouts and their parents and as a special inducement to purchase uniforms prior to camp a three months' subscription to "Boys' Life," the Boy Scouts' magazine, will be given free to every Scout who purchases a complete uniform during Boy Scout week. This is a special offer which the H. S. Webb company has made possible during the week. In addition to what has already been stated picked patrols of Boy Scouts will give daily demonstrations of signaling, first aid, knot-tying and fire by friction, Indian method.
